

Pressley Welsh

Introduction

COE 322

31 August 2025

I am studying computation because I fell in love with coding. My very first coding class was freshman year of high school, and it truly opened my eyes to the fun and rewarding feeling it gave me. I also fell in love with calculus and physics, which led me to my dream program of Computational Engineering at UT. I'm hoping to get a deeper understanding of C++ in this class as well as learn how to apply those skills.